BEER—Johnny Hook cried "beef," "beef," and so does Bony Burch—the advertisement, however, is all on Bony's side for he gets paid for his jolly good "green" while the tory Hook, who followed the bleeding footprints of the "rebel" army of the revolution, with his discordant notes, only received his compensation for his bobins, in the footings, and hissing, and exhortations of every honest man in the land. But let Johnny slide, and to "return to our mutton" or rather beef. On Saturday Bony sold 24 quarters, at prices ranging from 4 to 7 cents, a very great deal less than the same article could be bought at the market for. There the price is 12 cents retail, and 10 cents by the quarter. To repeat the idea heretofore advanced by us, we take occasion again to urge upon our citizens, and especially the poorer class, whose means compel them to buy by the small, the great saving in combining together, and laying at these sales. To do so will make their meat cost them 4 to 5 cents a pound, less than they now pay, a sum not to be lightly considered in these times of stringency in the money market. To elucidate our plan: Suppose six families buy a quarter of beef at auction, weighing 150 pounds at seven cents—(the total cost is $10.50—divided by six and we have $1.75 for each family. Go to the market and buy the same at retail at 12 cents, and we have as the cost $18.75—divided by six, and it gives $3.12 cents to each purchaser, the former plan saving to him the insignificant sum of $1.37, in 25 pounds of beef, an amount sufficient to purchase a small load of wood. It is useless to pursue the subject further. It is so plain that "the who runs, though a fool, may read." The same results will be obtained in the co-operative system of purchase of all other articles that enter into family consumption, and we have selected this one only because the prices were more readily attainable, and the results thus more easily deduced.—Lynchburg News.

To IDLE YOUNG MEN—The Norfolk Virginian, in some well directed suggestions, says: The young man who cannot screw his courage up to draw his gloves and grasp some implement of industry, whether it be the pen of the counting-room, or the jack-plane of the workshop, will find to his grief that he has been left behind in the race now going forward in all the departments of industry. The ending of the late war broke up the expectations of hundreds of young men, who, naturally enough, find it the most difficult thing in the world to renew the occupations of civil life to which they were accustomed at the inception of the war. Habits of idleness, once imbibed, grow to grooves of idleness against society as naturally as tadpoles turn to frogs. The idle young men of Virginia have served examples before them, in men who have been in the highest rank, and with most brilliant distinction through the late war. They are not ashamed to grasp the plough handles, and no false pride shocks them at the sight of shirt sleeves and tilling hands. Young man, supported by a toiling father, or mother, or sisters, do something. Go to work. Work is to be the salvation of the South. In the language of your old school leader, Go, Wise—Work! Work! work! for half a dime a day you cannot get a whole dime; for half a loaf is a whole loaf is denied you. "Only work!"—Fredricksburg Herald.

WEST VIRGINIA—The taxes levied on property in West Virginia, are heavy almost beyond conception. The State government is in the hands of the floating and unsubstantial population, and taxation, which is thrown almost wholly on property, is levied with unsparring hand, because those who impose it escape almost entirely, and get heavy pockets in the public expenditures. In short, the patriots are fleeing the people, and hope to secure the continuance of the good time, through the registry prescription. As an illustration of the enormity of the taxation to which we have referred, we learn that the county levy of Kanawha, which was formerly from eight to ten thousand dollars, as laid by the magistrates, is now seventy-five to eighty thousand, as imposed by the Superiors. The tax on a dwelling in Charleston, we were informed by a property holder, is equal to a pretty fair rental. In Mason county, the combined taxation of State and county on landed property, is from two dollars to two dollars and fifty cents per hundred dollars of value. Such grinding oppression is driving the property holders into the Conservative party, and sooner or later will bring the Radical carnival to a close.—Rich. Enquirer.

THE NEGRO POPULATION—A gentleman versed in such matters, who has been making some examination into the returns of commissioners and assessors of taxes, for various counties of the State, estimates the loss of negroes to the State of Virginia, since 1860, at two thirds of the entire number. This, in spite of the fact that no inconsiderable number of negroes who, in former years, had been sold and taken South have returned to their old homes. What has become of this crowd of human beings—no less than two hundred thousand? Some not a very large number, have gone North; but the remainder, what has become of them? Do the figures of the Freedmen's Bureau tell, or can the imagination of the philanthropist suggest? Oh! Liberty, what crimes, what crimes.—Richmond Whig.

THE METEORS—Yesterday about 1 o'clock it was announced that the "stars" had commenced falling and could be plainly seen from dark places. A great many people went themselves to dark alleys to observe the phenomenon, but their optics were not keen enough to determine whether what they saw were really meteors or only little down and cowboys floating in the air. Numbers of singular-looking objects could be seen shooting about in the direction of the sun, which, to our eyes, had a very meteoric appearance. It may have been an optical delusion, however.—Lynchburg Virginian.
